A NOTE FROM THE PUBLISHER

When I entered the book publishing business two decades ago, the industry had just opened up with the advent of desktop publishing. Unexpectedly, the once locked-down publishing world was accessible to upstart entrepreneurs with a dream and a business plan. Even if we were minnows swimming in a sea of sharks, the gatekeeper of big publishing suddenly had new competitors. The keymasters were the chains and independent book stores that were open to stocking the titles of small indie publishers—with the stipulation that they could return books! The goal was to publish valuable books that people would buy, keep, and recommend.

My first big break as an author and publisher came in 1996 when three things occurred: First, while asking public figures if I could use their quotes in my first travel book, World Stompers, film director Oliver Stone came forward with a fantastic blurb which is relevant even today. Next, I met Mark Maxam who had exceptional skills in electronic publishing. He helped repackage my first published work into a professional and industry-accepted title. Finally, the title caught the notice of Curt Matthews at Independent Publishers Group, which remains the distributor for CCC Publishing to this day. My Sacred Places: 108 Destinations series, and other award-winning titles, are the result.

Fast forward to the second decade of the 21st century. CCC Publishing has always been about niche markets, and our travel titles have achieved widespread favorable reviews. But it was time, once again, to follow my passion, look “Into the Future,” and develop a new series relevant to this age. The result was the publishing of Future Esoteric: The Unseen Realms, the first release of the Esoteric Series of books. Internet-fueled reviews quickly led to numerous radio and podcast interviews, including the venerated “Coast to Coast AM” with guest host George Knapp. Ironically, the guest who preceded me was Oliver Stone’s son, Sean, of Conspiracy Theory fame. Go figure!

The lessons learned in my two decades of publishing is to stay nimble and change with the currents, never stop trying, believe in your dreams, and be sure to stay with the people who have helped you achieve success. Collaborators like Mark, who’s masterful design you see in this catalog, the Esoteric Series books, and the newly launched EsotericSeries.com website; along with the help of IPG’s publicity department, Future Esoteric: The Unseen Realms has taken off faster than any other CCC Publishing title—thanks also in part by winning the Pinnacle Book Award’s Gold Prize in the category of New Age.

I look forward to publishing exciting and innovative book titles for the next two decades. Please join us into the future!

MODERN ESOTERIC BEYOND OUR SENSES

"A new book to shake the world of parapsychology and the paranormal." —Rob McConnell, host of the X-Zone

Modern Esoteric: Beyond Our Senses

by Brad Olsen

Organized into three sections (Lifeology, Control and Thrive), Modern Esoteric: Beyond Our Senses by World Explorer magazine editor Brad Olsen examines the flaws in ancient and modern history, plus explains how esoteric knowledge, conspiracy theories, and fringe subjects can be used to help change the dead-end course we humans seem to be blindly running ourselves into.

"The term 'esoteric' implies knowledge available to a select few. This book opens the door to the many mysteries of our world being withheld from us in the 'official narrative.' But at what cost? What is lost when we are not fully informed in our current culture of secrecy? What is our true potential as people? How will future generations view us at this pivotal moment of human ascension?" —Adventures Unlimited

"The truth is not just a casualty of war but of peace. The official narrative is controlled by an elite few to ensure that the real truth remains hidden within a culture of secrecy. ... Olsen reveals many pieces of the puzzle, explaining how we've been duped and what we can do about it. A courageous work that serves to set us free." —Nexus

Future Esoteric: The Unseen Realms

by Brad Olsen

Things are not always as they appear. For the past century forbidden subjects such as UFOs, human abductions, secret space programs, suppressed free energy devices and other fantastic notions have tested the human mind, forcing it to decipher fact from fiction. But is there a common thread? As sites like WikiLeaks and their founders try to unveil war secrets and covert black operations, international governments have little-by-little begun exposing what they've tried for years to keep hidden. Chronicling what he calls the "alternative narrative," Brad Olsen gets down to the middle of it all.

The Tribes of Burning Man: How an Experimental City in the Desert is Shaping the New American Counterculture

by Steven T. Jones

The Burning Man Festival has taken on a new character in recent years, with the frontier finally becoming a real city and the many tribes of the event—the fire artists, circus freaks, music lovers, do-gooders, sexual adventurers, grungy builders, and a myriad of other burner collectives—developing an impactful perennial presence in sister cities all over the world.

"It's a gutsy venture to try to chronicle a culture as alive and ever changing as Burning Man. ... when people look back on the history of this desert civilization, where money is discouraged, spectators are banned, drugs are like candy, clothing is optional, and gentle weirdness prevails, I hope they refer to this comprehensive, sharply written volume as a trusted resource." —San Luis Obispo New Times

"Burning Man used to be a desert tent city with a do-it-yourself ethos. But its growth—and the increasing wealth of many of its attendees—has seen an influx of cash. "Commerce around Burning Man has evolved and it's a complicated dance," says Steven T. Jones, author of The Tribes of Burning Man. (italic book title and WSJ) —Wall Street Journal

The Poetry Oracle: Ask a Question and Find Your Fate

by Amber Guetebier and Brenda Knight

Combining poetry with divination, this collection resurrects the ancient Greek art of Rhapsodomancy, or divining one's fortune or destiny through the use of poetry or verse. Harkening back to antiquity, each page of this anthology contains three poetic excerpts chosen for their oracular wisdom. Readers are asked to randomly select an excerpt which will offer revelations and inspiration. Excerpts are drawn from poets throughout the ages, including Sappho, Li Po, Rumi, Emily Dickinson, Walt Whitman, Dylan Thomas, William Blake, and J.R.R. Tolkien. Though designed as a prophetic tool, it can also be used as an introduction to some of the world's greatest poets.
